Dear Friends,

We refer to our letter of the 17th February in which we announced details of the Montreal Colloquium and Preliminary Programme and advised that we would be shortly sending another communication with the hotel reservation details and the details for registration for the Colloquium.

These are now ready, available and waiting for you to access at the Event Website which is: <https://cmi2023.cmla.org/>

As we explained in our communication last week, the Grand Prix organisers changed the Grand Prix weekend to the weekend at the end of our colloquium week which has meant that room rates during the week of our Colloquium and especially towards the week end have risen exponentially. Notwithstanding this, our Canadian colleagues have, also as advised last week, succeeded in block booking rooms at the Colloquium venue – the Sheraton hotel – at the previously agreed price. However, the number of rooms booked is limited. Accordingly these rooms are very much on a first come first served basis.

In order to ensure your accommodation at the Colloquium, we strongly recommend that you first book your hotel accommodation and then register for the Colloquium.

Looking forward to seeing you in Montreal
